

Multiple Chronic Conditions, Depression, and Older Workers: An Examination of Gender and Race Disparities

WEDNESDAY, AUG 12, 2020
10:00 AM CENTRAL

Kendra Jason, PhD

CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO
CENTER FOR GERONTOLOGY
DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER SERIES

CONCORDIA
UNIVERSITY CHICAGO

Despite health issues associated with aging, older adult participation in the workforce has grown dramatically over the past 25 years. However, work and health are characterized by notable social inequities in age, race, and gender. Dr. Jason's research examines whether multiple chronic conditions and depression affect workforce participation. Dr. Jason's discussion will illuminate complex race-gender distinctions and dynamics related to health and work processes in later life.

TO REGISTER AND FOR MORE INFORMATION, VISIT
CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY CENTER FOR GERONTOLOGY

QUESTIONS? CONTACT:

LYDIA.MANNING@CUCHICAGO.EDU